Lancaster Colony Corporation
P.O. Box 29163
Columbus, Ohio 43229

Web Site: www.lancastercolony.com
Lancaster Colony Corporation (LCC) manufactures specialty food items which include: salad dressings and sauces, frozen unbaked pies, refrigerated chip and produce dips, dairy snacks and desserts and dry egg noodles. Lancaster Colony also produces glass products. Glass products include a broad range of machine pressed and machine blown consumer glassware and technical glass products such as cathode ray tubes, lighting components, lenses and silvered reflectors. Candles and other home fragrance products of all sizes, forms and fragrance are primarily sold in the mass merchandise markets as well as to supermarkets, drug stores and specialty shops under the name “Candle-lite.”

COE Board Members: Thomas Deschler
Vice President Continuous Improvement

Tom Deschler’s 35 years at Marzetti’s have included management positions in customer service, sales, operations and most recently as vice president of manufacturing. Tom received his degree from the Ohio State in Industrial Psychology. Along with being the COE board representative for LCC, Deschler serves on boards of the Ohio State Facility Club and the Ohio State Alumni Student Loan Foundation.