

2017 REAL ESTATE CONFERENCE

SMART CITIES: COLUMBUS AND BEYOND

APRIL 19, 2017 • 4:00–8:30 P.M. BLACKWELL INN

4:00–4:30 p.m.

CHECK-IN AND OPENING RECEPTION

4:30–4:45 p.m.

WELCOME

Itzhak Ben-David
*Director of The Ohio State Center for Real Estate
Neil Klatskin Chair in Finance and Real Estate*

Robert Schottenstein
Chair, Ohio State Center for Real Estate Executive Board Chair and Chief Executive Office, M/I Homes

4:45–5:45 p.m.

Smart Columbus Panel

The Smart Columbus panel will provide an overview of the progress the city of Columbus and its partners have made in accomplishing the various projects and initiatives outlined in its original proposal to the US Department of Transportation. Representatives from the city, The Ohio State University and Columbus Partnership will discuss the steps taken and the future impact of these efforts.

Joanna Pinkerton
Co-Director, Honda/OSU Partnership at The Ohio State University

Alex Fischer
President and CEO, Columbus Partnership

Michael Stevens
Chief Innovation Office, City of Columbus

5:45–6:15 p.m.

The future of electric grid

Ryan L. Houk, Director – Smart City Program Management, AEP

With the advent of electric vehicles and the potentially dramatic increase in need for electric charging stations, the future of our electric grid has to be reimagined. In this session, the presenter will discuss the current efforts and future plans for reimagined electric grid for our homes, business and public spaces.

6:15–7:00 p.m.

BREAK AND DINNER

7:00–7:45 p.m.

KEYNOTE

Making cities smart: The global view

Daniel Correa, Former Assistant Director for Innovation Policy, White House Office of Science and Technology Policy

The Columbus Smart Cities grant focuses heavily on smart transportation, however, the smart cities movement encompasses much more. Mr. Correa will provide the audience with a broader view of the global smart city movement, discuss the latest trends and what makes a city smart.

7:45–8:30 p.m.

CLOSING AND AFTER DINNER RECEPTION

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
CENTER FOR REAL ESTATE