

Updated: November 2017

Curriculum Vitae

Narendra Kumar Ghosalya

1st Year PhD Student

Email: ghosalya.1@osu.edu

Max M. Fisher College of Business, Ohio State University

Education

Bachelors of Technology (B. Tech) (2009-13)

Mechanical Engineering, Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Bombay, Mumbai.

Work Experience

Research Assistant (2014-17), SJM School of Management, IIT Bombay, Mumbai

Worked on behavioral operations projects such as multi-echelon supply chains and newsvendor decision making, studying the decision making process using eye-tracking in laboratory setting.

Graduate Engineering Trainee (2013-14), Hero Moto Corp Limited, India

Worked as a territory service manager in Jaipur office looking after service center operations of the assigned area dealerships. Worked on projects in various areas such as operations, marketing and sales, R&D etc. during the training period at various locations.

Conferences

1. 4th ISB-POMS workshop, Indian School of Business, Hyderabad, India (Dec 2016)

Presented a poster titled: "Demand Forecasting in Newsvendor Decision Making: Evidence from an Eye Tracking Investigation."

2. 11th Annual Behavioral Operations Conference- Madison, USA (July 2016)

Presented a research paper titled: "Eye-tracking Methodology for Behavioural Operations Management: a Primer" at the Young Scholars Workshop

Working Papers

1. "Deliberate Discounting of Feedback in Dynamic Decision Making: Insights from a Multi-Method Study" with Prof. TT Niranjana and Prof. Srinagesh Gavirneni (Submitted to JOM)
2. "Eye-Tracking Methodology for Behavioral Operations Management" with Prof. TT Niranjana
3. "Demand Forecasting in Newsvendor Decision Making: Evidence from an Eye Tracking Investigation" with Prof. TT Niranjana, Prof. Srinagesh Gavirneni and Prof. Jayanth Jayaram.