Faculty thought leaders at The Ohio State University Max M. Fisher College of Business inspire students and bring business education to life.

Through scholarly work, mentoring and intellectual leadership, our faculty develop well-rounded graduates. They encourage and embolden young minds, and they take thought leadership from the classroom to the boardroom.

Donor support of faculty allows Fisher to attract talented thought leaders early in their academic careers, support young and emerging faculty, and retain world-class faculty who advance their fields through research, inspire students in the classroom and serve their communities.

Faculty chairs and professorships recognize and honor faculty members for their outstanding contributions to business education while providing flexibility in funding for their curricular programs and research initiatives. Establishing an endowed chair or professorship equips Fisher faculty members with the resources necessary to positively impact the lives of our students and future generations of business leaders.

“The legacy of the Klatskin family at The Ohio State University and within the real estate industry is one of great meaning and impact. It’s my great honor to be a steward of that legacy as the Neil Klatskin chair.”

—Itzhak Ben-David
Neil Klatskin Chair in Finance and Real Estate

“Fisher College of Business and its finance and real estate education programs continue to build on the foundation of two industries that have been my passion for more than 50 years. The contributions Lynne and I have made in honor of our son reaffirm his love for The Ohio State University and the many opportunities afforded to him. We are committed to Fisher College of Business and its mission of creating first-class, successful students who are equipped for the ever-changing dynamics of the business world.”

The generosity Deloitte has shared through the Deloitte & Touche Chair of Accounting has provided me with critical access to a number of important research tools, including the SNL Database, which is used by both faculty and students conducting research on financial institutions. The Deloitte Chair has enabled me to engage with undergraduate and graduate accounting students in the classroom — rewarding opportunities for which I am very thankful.

W.C. Benton
Edwin D. Dodd Professorship in Management

“I am grateful to the Dodd family for its continued commitment to the study of operations and management. The support I have received has provided me with the resources necessary to make an impact in health care research. As a professor and a researcher, I am proud to represent the Dodd family through my contributions to scholarship and thought leadership. During the past two years I received two best paper research awards for my work.”

Oded Shenkar
Ford Motor Company Chair in Global Business Management

“The philanthropic support I have received from the Ford Motor Company has been instrumental in nearly every aspect of the Chair in Global Business Management. As a researcher, the chair has equipped me to explore the complex world of international business, and specifically China’s role in the global economy. And in the classroom, the support has deepened my students’ understanding of the role of cultural and political systems, trade and multinational enterprise in international business.”
