

Fisher College of Business

GENERAL EDUCATION (Gen Ed) COURSES

The Ohio State University's General Education (Gen Ed) is an integral part of your undergraduate business education. The General Education is designed to provide you with a better understanding of society's traditions and past, its accomplishments and aspirations, its relation to and responsibility for the natural world, its diversity and plurality, and its problems and needs. The goal of the Gen Ed is aimed at helping you develop skills, competencies, and breadth of knowledge to become educated, productive citizens. For updates to this General Education list, contact your academic advisor or visit <http://fisher.osu.edu>.

Each course may be used to fulfill only one category except for Social Diversity and Global Studies when appropriate.
