transfer students admitted to the university for summer quarter 2007
or later who have earned fewer than 45 hours of transfer credit.
AVIATION MANAGEMENT

SPECIAL MAJOR

The Aviation Management Special Major is designed to prepare students for professional positions in the aviation industries. The Fisher College of Business recognizes the need to effectively organize human and material resources in a world of rapid social, economic and technological change.

Aviation is a high technology, rapidly changing, competitive business operating in a global arena. Educated, professional managers are needed in over fifty career areas in the aviation industry. Transportation, economics and logistics, flight operations, and support are some of the many other positions that make up the exciting and challenging field of aviation.

Managers are needed for airports, airlines, transportation support fields and local, state, federal, and international regulatory agencies. Work is continually being done to analyze aviation and to determine what can be done to make it safer; to manage it more efficiently; and to develop new products and techniques to make the airplane, airline, and airport industry more successful.

Earnings: Graduates with a strong business background that complement their aviation courses can expect earnings competitive with service sector management position ranging from $25,000.00 to $33,000.00 with entry level positions averaging $30,000.

More Information: The Ohio State University Applications Bulletin and the Fisher College of Business Bulletin provide complete information concerning enrollment in the University and in the Aviation Management Special Major. The bulletins can be requested from: The Ohio State University Admissions Office, The Ohio State University; Third Floor Lincoln Tower, 1800 Cannon Dr, Columbus, Ohio 43210 (614) 292-3980.

Career Services: The Fisher College Career Services Office in 150 Gerlach Hall has numerous services to assist all students with their career needs including assistance with resume writing and interviewing, an active internship program, on-campus interviews, employment and employer resources, and career planning advice. Visit the office and the website at: http://fisher.osu.edu/career/ for more information.
